The Only Solution

In this column a few weeks ago, some attention was devoted to the subject of the Canadian Banking system and the relations existing between the Banks on the one hand and the public on the other—the public being divided into two groups, those who placed money on deposit in the Banks and those who borrowed money from the Banks. At that time the principle was upheld that a Bank's first duty was to its depositors, that is, to those from whom it had accepted money and for whom it undertook to act as a trustee of the funds thus entrusted to it.

It was further pointed out that the loaning power of a Bank depended upon the volume of its deposits, and that if a Bank failed to adequately protect its depositors, it would very quickly lose them and hence have no money to loan. It may be that there are still some people laboring under the delusion that a Bank carries on a loaning business out of its paid-up capital and accumulated reserves, but it only requires a very casual study of the Monthly Banking Returns to reveal the fact that the total paid-up capital and reserves of all the chartered Banks in Canada is equivalent to only a small fraction of the amount of money they have out in loans to the people. This means that the Banks have loaned the money received by them by way of deposits, retaining in cash on hand only sufficient to meet any demands which depositors may make upon them from day to day.

Such a system—and it is the only sound and safe banking system—forces upon Banks the necessity when "hard times" and "financial stringencies" arise to curtail credits, because it is inevitable that it is during just such periods that (1) the making of deposits drop to a low mark, and (2) that those who have money on deposit have to draw some of it for use. There is only one thing for the Banks to do in order to protect their depositors and be in a position to honor all cheques drawn upon them, and that is to curtail credits and reduce loans.

In a very notable address before the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' convention at Moose Jaw early in February, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Provincial Treasurer, not only very clearly outlined the above situation, but he demonstrated, apparently to the satisfaction of his big audience, why a Federal Banking system is the only one in which the people of the West can look for satisfactory results. The West is a seasonal country. In the Fall and early Winter, when the grain crop is harvested and largely marketed, the bulk of the people have money. It is at that time the farmers pay their bills, interest on loans and mortgages, and when the better established farmers place money on deposit in the Banks. At that season few farmers, comparatively speaking, require credit, unless it be for the speculative purpose of holding their grain for a rise in the market price.

At other periods of the year, farmers are not making deposits, but are either gradually withdrawing money they had on deposit or are asking credit.

In other words, at the one period of the year when a purely local or Provincial Bank would have money on deposit which could be used for loaning purposes, the demand for credit is at a minimum, while the period when loans are most urgently required is the time when deposits are not being made, but are reduced to the lowest figure. It will be seen, therefore, that a purely local Western Bank would never be able to function as a great loaning institution at the very time when loans were imperatively required. Under the Federal system, on the other hand, a surplus of money on deposit in one section of the country can be used in another section where it may be required, money flowing back and forth, or in a circle, with the varying seasonal requirements of all sections.

Mr. Dunning, therefore, held out no hope of the establishment of purely Western agricultural Banks. On the other hand, while frankly stating that the present Canadian Banking system was well designed to meet the needs of commerce—and it was for that purpose it was originally created—Mr. Dunning admitted it had its weaknesses from the Western agricultural standpoint. The remedy, however, was, in his opinion, to be found in the making of certain amendments to the Banking Act which would enable Banks to accept certain securities now prohibited to them and thereby make possible the extension of larger and better credit terms to farmers.

Many of the more far-seeing Western bankers realized the necessity of such amendments, and would favor them. Mr. Dunning, therefore, advised the farmers to urge such amendments when the Banking Act came up for its decennial revision a year or two hence, rather than to persist in the impracticable demand for the establishment of local or Provincial Banks in the Western Provinces created for the specific purpose of meeting the credit needs of agriculture. This was impossible in a country where 75 per cent. of the people were engaged in a seasonal occupation. The present Federal Banking system, revised to meet the needs of agriculture, offers the only practical solution to this problem which is so vital to the development and prosperity of the West.

Find Valuable Jewels

Vast Quantities of Precious Stones in Old Trunk.

Finance Minister Hegedus has discovered vast quantities of precious stones in an old iron trunk deposited unknown years ago in the treasury building at Budapest, Hungary.

The minister was searching the treasury in the hope of finding relief for the treasury's embarrassed state and saw the trunk, which he had believed to contain papers. When it was broken into, thousands of opals and other precious stones appeared, the value of which is estimated at 200,000,000 crowns.

Production of sugar in the United States in 1920 broke all previous records. A preliminary announcement by the bureau of crop estimates placed the aggregate production of beet and cane sugar for the year at 2,605,174,000 pounds, a 15 per cent. increase over the previous record output in 1916. Beet sugar at 2,219,200,000 pounds showed a 27 per cent. increase over the previous record production in 1915.

It is so often stalling that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. May Identify Soldier Dead

Use of Teeth Charts to be Adopted by U.S. Army.

The United States graves registration service has expressed itself as opposed to the selection at present of the body of an unidentified soldier from the United States war dead in France for removal and burial with honors in the United States, should congress enact legislation to this end. The reason is the constant reduction in the number of unidentified and the hope of the eventual identification of almost all of them through teeth charts which are being sent to Washington and compared with the records.

Gray Flannel for This Trim Frock

By Gertrude Beresford.

Flannel in all colors is a favored fabric in the realm of dress. In the model that is illustrated a very pretty shade of gray is chosen. It is fashioned on the simple lines that so accentuate the youthfulness of the figure. Dark blue crepe de chine in two different widths decorates this delightful dress, which boasts the very short sleeves that are remarked on many of the new creations for spring. The hat of gray crepe de chine is a new version of the sailor. The crown is softly draped and the brim lightly rolled away from the face. A band of crepe de chine is drawn around the crown and tied at the sides so that the ends swing to the shoulder.

Costly for

Insurance Companies

Influenza Was More Expensive Than Post-War Casualties.

One of the outstanding features in the insurance business during the year ending March 31, 1920, was the excessive mortality in the early months due to the influenza epidemic, stated G. D. Finlayson, superintendent of insurance, in his report tabled in the house of commons by Sir Henry Drayton. Influenza was more costly to the life insurance companies in Canada during that period than were post-war casualties.

Would Amend Banking System.

Tentative steps for the establishment of a provincial rural credit system were taken recently by the Provincial Treasurer in suggesting that the Canadian Council of Agriculture commence an expert examination into the possibility of developing the Canadian banking system to meet the requirements of agriculture. The present banking system, he claimed, whilst a most admirable one, was not created to meet the demands for agriculture, and the system of management leaves it to the head office to grant loans, whose officials are not always in a position to judge the merits of the applicants.

Rebellion Days, 1884-85

By O-G-E-MASES (Little Clerk).

A couple of hours brought us to Goodfellow's, and here we received the heartiest of welcomes and heard the rather astounding news that the postmaster at Ft. La Corne had skipped down the river, taking his winter's furs, but leaving all goods and ammunition behind with no one to look after them. Goodfellow, though he had retired some years back, was on fire to save what he could of the company's property, but he had been alone, as all the surrounding residents had fled likewise. Now, with two of us, we decided to visit the fort next morning and stay the day. We received some very good news also as to a safe escape from the country (but the time for that was not yet) as he had a York boat hidden in a creek, and our united stocks would amply provision us. In addition we had four or five fish nets and plenty of hooks and ammunition. "His cattle, of which he had a large band, worried him as to their final disposal, and we finally decided on the creek, so that one of us would have to stay with them with his oldest boy and drive them to a safe retreat in the hills to the east. He was in great spirits over my arrival, and said that we were now good for a regiment of rebels. We made known in a creek, he telling stories of wintering on the plains against the buffalo where they had often to defend the company's property against hostile Indians. And the ladies who saw one another very seldom in those days equally enjoyed themselves. Mrs. Goodfellow, who was a member of the well-known Turner family, was the soul of hospitality, and our children were at once petted and made much of by their fine youngsters.

Breakfasting early next morning and seeing to our arms, we drove down to old Ft. La Corne, at that time situated about two miles down the river from the present post and within easy reach of the water, all important supplies coming there by boat at that time. We found a number of ladies very much interested in the valuable goods lying about, but Mr. Goodfellow had been master of Ft. La Corne for a number of years and immediately ordered them all across to Saskatchewan River. Away they went at once, being a peaceable crowd, and Christianized for many years back, this being the site of one of the oldest Church of England Missions in Saskatchewan.

As we were liable to be visited by hostiles at any time, to whom the supplies would be very acceptable, our first thought was of the ammunition, there being a considerable stock of powder, bullets, shot, gunnaps, and flints, for that stock goods were still in use. We finally disposed of these in an old dry well, packing them carefully against dampness and removing all traces on the surface. We then carried all valuable things that were lying about in the store, put different classes of goods in boxes, padlocked the place and went back home for the night. It took several days of steady work to take an exact inventory of all goods on hand, and the last day, while we were figuring up totals (which ran well into the thousands) the water was high, the ice opened and in fled four French half-breeds. I thought we were in for trouble and backed up against the shelves where my six-shooter was lying loaded, then looked at Goodfellow. "Not a word was spoken." I could note that his hand was curling, and finally he said in sharp tones, "What do you want?" With that the leader evidently produced a letter to him from Chief Factor Clarke at Prince Albert, asking him to take an inventory of all goods he could find and ship the same down to Cumberland House, further stating that these men were loyal French half-breeds and anxious to get away from the fighting. The tension was then relaxed. I asked George afterwards what he would have done if they had proved hostile. "I would have called to them to pitch their hands up," was his instant reply. "I was over forty years in the company's service and never had anything taken from me yet also I noted you had your big pistol handy." The letter also instructed that a careful copy of the inventory was to be sent up to Mr. Clarke by a trustworthy hand. Poor Lawrence Clarke. "For many years he could have been called the uncrowned King of Northern Saskatchewan," with everyone obedient to his dictates. Now he had seen down at Duck Lake by rebels, and the shock was too much for him. One of the few Irishmen in the company, a fierce fellow never stepped, and I owe him much gratitude for many acts of kindness.

We at once commenced packing and made a good start, then arranged a camp for men and went back down the river. This we did, and after some hours' hard work, saw the boat off with its valuable cargo. This meant safety, as the rebels never attempted reaching the lower Saskatchewan. Running to the mouth of this river at Grand Rapids was the steamer Colville on Lake Winnipeg, which took all cargoes on to Fort Garry.

After fair copies had been made of the inventory and shipping bills, I returned to take them to Prince Albert, so started next morning in the saddle, by way of the Forks. This is a wild and beautiful spot where the waters of the north and south branches unite, having very high banks clothed with dark spruce, and whirling, eddying waters. I could see a house on the far bank and fired several shots to attract attention but without success; so after careful search up and down the river, back in search of a boat or canoe and finding none, I rather recklessly determined to swim it. Riding up the south branch for half a mile, taking a small dry log along for a rest and placing valuables and papers on the log, I jumped into the water. "Woe but it was cold, and it took the little mare and myself all we knew to make the other bank, and we were both very much exhausted on reaching there. In fact but for the log I doubt if I could have done it. On reaching the house I found it deserted, the cellar trap open and a young beaver lying dead at the foot of the stairs. After some search I found plenty of fresh eggs. Let a monster fire, had a good supper and retired to my room. The house was quite comfortable in the stable, with lots of hay, and there I also slept.

Sees No Need For Election

Senator Crosby Cannot Understand On What Ground Election Is Demanded.

Ottawa.—In the Senate, Senator Power asked permission to disassociate the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment from his condemnation of the government's administration. So far as he could learn, that department was very effective and its work creditable.

Resuming the debate on the address, Senator Crosby condemned those who would open this country to the United States, Senator Crosby by not understanding upon what the Liberals based their demand for an election.

Want Change in Taxation

Advertising Discussed at Final Session of Toronto Convention.

Toronto.—Advertising was the chief topic of discussion at the final session of the annual convention of Ontario Retail Clothiers' Section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada. Harris Vinberg, of Montreal, declared that one of the greatest factors in organizing a substantial business was unquestionably the utility of newspaper advertising.

A resolution was passed suggesting to the Dominion Government that "if any further change in the method of collecting taxes for the purpose of this country paying its war debts the tax be made at the source of supply, namely, upon the manufacturer and importer and that this tax be passed on to the consumer, so that it could be absorbed in his cost."

Other resolutions included the following: "Favoring Made in Canada goods; opposing the holding of sales in temporary retail stores by manufacturers and denouncing untruthful advertisements and recommending the prosecution of the persons responsible therefor."

Norris Makes Statement

Manitoba Leader Declares That He Does Not Intend to Precipitate An Election.

Winnipeg.—Premier T. C. Norris told the legislature that he had not the authority of the Lieutenant-Governor to precipitate a general election, and declared that he did not intend to do any such thing.

"I had a clear statement of existing conditions before the house," the Premier said, "and if a deadlock occurs there is no other course than an appeal to the people. It may not be this government which would make the appeal, but if not, it would be some other administration."

Hon. J. Bernier, St. Boniface, (Independent), asserted that the Norris Government had tried to frighten the members with threats of an election and that the members of the Opposition groups had nothing to do but accept the First Minister's challenge. The Premier had thrown down the glove, Mr. Bernier stated, and it should be taken up, if not today, then during the session some time.

A Modest Assertion

Andre Lefevre Says French Army Is Best in the World.

Paris.—Andre Lefevre asked the Chamber to divert 100,000,000 francs from the navy budget to the army. "We have the greatest army in the world," said M. Lefevre, "while among navies we stand sixth or seventh. We cannot gain supremacy on the water, but we must maintain it on the land. The next war will be decided by land and air with the navies negligible."

The Chamber of Deputies refused to vote the amendment, only about 15 deputies favoring it.

Progress Of Fordney Bill

Washington.—A compromise agreement fixing the tariff on wheat at 35 cents a bushel was reached by Senate and House conferees considering the Fordney Emergency Bill. The agreement on 35 cents was said to involve the question of the difference in the rate of exchange.

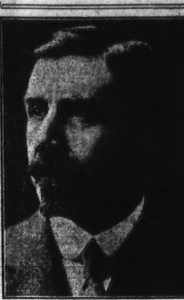

Three Soldiers Murdered

Dublin.—Bodies of three soldiers were found near Woodford, County Galway. Each man had been shot through the head, and on each body was a note on which was written: "Spies, court-martialed and found guilty."

Still After Ex-Kaiser

Doorn, Holland.—A German youth armed with a revolver, according to reports current here, slipped through the guards about the home of the former German emperor, but was caught inside the grounds. The reports could not be confirmed, however.

President of Bulman Bros. Ltd., lithographers and printers, Winnipeg. He is Ex-President of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, and takes a keen interest in educational matters.

Will Keep Out of Politics

B.C. Farmers As Body Decline To Take Any Political Action.

Vancouver.—The United Farmers of British Columbia, as a body, will not take direct political action, it was overwhelmingly decided by the delegates to the annual convention here. Several hours' strenuous debate preceded the decision. In general opinion was that the farmers of the province must organize thoroughly on an economic basis before they could hope to become a powerful influence politically.

During the deliberations there were sweeping condemnations of the existing parties, Commander Lewis, of Rock Creek, remarking that "since coming to this country he had taken no interest in politics as it had seemed to him to be absolutely dirty."

The convention decided to ask the Provincial Government to appoint a commission to secure reliable data on the Oriental question, in view of the approaching Imperial conference.

A case based on this information, according to the terms of the resolution, would be presented by the Provincial Government to the Federal Government, urging necessary protection of British Columbia against the Orientals.

Irish Question is a Barrier

Viscount Grey Speaks Of Relations Between Britain and United States.

London.—Viscount Grey, at a dinner given by the National Liberal Club, said he was one of those who believed there would be little pleasure or interest in living in the world if there was war between Britain and the United States. The fact was plain to him that there would not be cordiality between the two countries so long as the Irish question remained unsettled.

He referred to the Anglo-American peace treaty, requiring one year's deliberation before war was declared and added that he did not believe the two great democracies would ever go to war if the treaty was obeyed.

Viscount Grey regretted that the people of the United States seemed very conscious of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, but appeared to be unaware of the Anglo-American peace pact, which was in force.

World's Altitude Record

Fort Sill, Ark.—What is believed by aerial officers here to be a world's altitude record for a parachute jump was established when Sgt. E. L. Chambers jumped from an airship piloted by Lieut. Wagner at a height of 22,000 feet during an aerial circus at Post Field. The previous record is said to be 20,900 feet. Chambers landed six miles from his take-off.

Very Romantic

London.—The Evening Star announces that Mrs. Terence MacSwiney, widow of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, of Cork, is engaged to Art O'Brien, vice-president of the Irish Self-Determination League and President of the London branch of the organization. During MacSwiney's incarceration, Mr. O'Brien furnished the newspapers with almost hourly bulletins on condition of the Lord Mayor.

Leader of Progressives Deals With Timely Topics in the House

Spracklin is Acquitted

Verdict Is Returned In Sensational Ontario Trial After 55 Minutes, Windsor, Ont.—After deliberating exactly 55 minutes at the conclusion of two days and a half of a trial, the jury brought in a verdict of "Not Guilty" in the case of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, pastor of Sandwich Methodist Church, accused of "unlawfully slaying and killing one, Beverly Trumble."

The verdict was not in any way a surprise for the general opinion of the public has been, since the opening of the case, that Spracklin would be acquitted, but, nevertheless, the atmosphere was tense, while the crowds that thronged the court were waiting for the return of the "twelve good men and true" who hold the fate of the "fighting parson" in their hands.

Trouble for Soviet

Rebellion On Widespread Scale Is Reported In Eastern Russia. Copenhagen.—Reports that widespread rebellions have broken out in Eastern Russia and that the Soviet Government has despatched large forces to attempt to restore order were telegraphed from Helsinki by the Berlingske Tidende's correspondent there, who quotes press reports from what are declared to be an authoritative source. The trouble arose over the failure of the Moscow Government to provide food and fuel for the inhabitants, the reports say.

A Gigantic Undertaking

To Seek No Charter On Wheat Pool At Present Session. Winnipeg.—No application will be made this session to the Manitoba Legislature for a charter in connection with the formation of the wheat pool association, according to George Langley, minister of municipal affairs for Saskatchewan, who is in the city.

In explaining the delay, Mr. Langley said the formation of such an association, which thousands of farmers belong, constituted an undertaking of gigantic magnitude, meriting mature consideration. Another matter which would have to be dealt with at some length was the question of determining the status of farmers in the association, who, though possessing no financial interest in the organization, were entitled to consideration in its direction.

Capture 2,000 Bolsheviks

London.—The London Times reports that it has received information to the effect that the Georgians have repulsed the Bolshevik attack on Tiflis and made 2,000 prisoners. The capital is said to be out of danger and the position of the Georgians is favorable.

Imperial Property For Dominion

Halifax.—Formal transfer to the Dominion Government of all Imperial property in Halifax and elsewhere in Canada, has been made, state local military officers.

Upper House Member Leaves Government Benches

Senator Turfitt, of Assiniboia, Decides to Support Progressive Party.

Ottawa.—Senator Turfitt has announced himself as a supporter of the National Progressive party and left the government side of the house for the cross benches. He took this course because he did not agree with the government's tariff policy and also because the people of the province which he represented were overwhelmingly in favor of the fiscal policy of the Progressives.

Sensor Turfitt had no apologies for his course in 1917, when he broke with his old policy and supported conscription.

Dealing with the tariff, Senator Turfitt had been surprised to hear Senator Foster, in moving the address, point out that cotton could be brought into Canada from the United States, manufactured and sold in competition with the United States finished products in the country of South America. That did not indicate that Canadian manufacturers

Ottawa.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressives, entered the House debate on the address, Mr. Crerar is the first of his party to speak this session, and his entry into the discussion was followed with keen attention by a well-attended House and full galleries.

Mr. Crerar did not agree with the Opposition leader, that the government was usurping power. But he would support the Opposition movement to the address on the ground that the government had lost the confidence of the country.

Hon. T. A. Crerar congratulated Hon. Arthur Meighen on his accession to the premiership. It was perhaps an indication of the growing importance of the view that this important office should now be filled by a westerner. Mr. Crerar congratulated the mover and seconder of the address on having "made the best of a rather difficult job." He summed up the speech of his two other party leaders by saying that in effect, Mackenzie King had said to the premier: "We want you to get out," and Mr. Meighen had replied: "I am going to stay here as long as I can."

That seemed to be the sum of what was continued in the two speeches, Mr. Crerar said, and something more might have been expected from both.

The speech from the throne appealed to the leader of the Progressives as "resembling a statement of assets and liabilities of a company which was going into bankruptcy."

Mr. Crerar was glad to see in the speech from the throne that statement that Canada was freer from unrest than other countries. This was true, but the speeches which the Prime Minister had been making lately all over the country might very easily give the impression that Canada was on the verge of a red revolution. He thought Mr. Meighen must regret, in his sober moments, some of the extravagant statements he had been making in his campaigns, where he played politics.

The speech from the throne had stated that tariff revision was to be produced the necessary revenue and provide protection for the development of industries including agriculture. Canada already produced more agricultural implements than could be used at home. The prices for the exportable surplus were fixed in the markets of the world.

To say protection was an aid to agriculture was ridiculous. The premier, said Mr. Crerar, had placed the issue clearly before the people in his speeches throughout the country. Mr. Crerar declared he was a believer in straight talking. Mr. Meighen did not always support his policies by sound argument. The government talked of a tariff for revenue in the same breath as it talked of protection. There was a distinct difference between the two classes of tariff. They were on inconsistent grounds when they tried to make the people believe that one tariff could cover both.

London.—Daylight saving will begin in this country at midnight April 2, and will end midnight, October 2.

To Circumvent Car Thieves

Bill Now Pending In Ontario Would Stop Motor Theft.

Toronto.—Hon. Mr. Biggs' bill amending the Motor Vehicles Act was given a second reading in the legislature. "The Minister of Public Works accepted a suggestion from J. A. Calder, member for North Ontario, that a clause be included providing that garages should be carefully inspected to see that they contain no stolen cars. Mr. Calder said many stolen cars were broken up and the parts used for repairs. Hon. Mr. Biggs said he was willing to do anything to help stamp out the theft of cars, which had arrived at an appalling stage.

Big Relief Bill

Toronto.—At least $54,000 is spent in Toronto weekly for rentals and maintenance of the unemployed, and apparently there is no sign of the situation abating.

Navigation Opens April 15

Port Arthur, Ont.—Lake marine insurance will go into effect April 15, which means that is the date officially set for the opening of navigation.

Keep Watch On Ex-Kaiser

Wilhelm Must Accept Dutch Restrictions As To His Liberty.

The Hague.—Replying to a question in parliament as to the present status of former Emperor William of Germany, and the former Crown Prince, Foreign Minister Van Karnebeck announced that J. B. Kan, secretary-general of Dutch governmental affairs, had been instructed to carry out the regulations now in force or any which might be taken to restrict the liberty of the Hohenzollerns. But the former Kaiser and his son, said the foreign minister, were considered as "foreigners" who, because of positions they held, must content themselves with restrictions placed on their liberty.

Exonerate Edmonton Nurses

Edmonton.—The Hospital Board ordered deleted from the minutes all charges of censure against the superintendent, Miss McKillop, and her chief assistant, Miss McGillivray, by the 1920 board. They are now completely exonerated from blame in connection with the recent inquiry, and the new board further states that a great injustice was done them.

—THE SECRETARY—

He Delivers The Goods

There's a man in this world, who is never brought down.
Wherever he chances to stray;
He gets the glad hand in the populous town
Or out where the farmers make hay.
He's greeted with pleasure on deserts of sand,
And deep in the aisles of the woods;
Wherever he goes there's a welcoming hand,
He's the man who delivers the goods.
The failures of life sit around and complain
The Gods haven't treated them white;
They've lost their umbrellas whenever there's rain,
And they haven't their lanterns at night.
Men soon tire of failures who fill with their sighs
The air of their own neighborhoods;
There's a man who is greeted with joyous eyes,
He's the man who delivers the goods.
One fellow is lazy and watches the clock,
And waits for the whistle to blow;
And one has a hammer with which he will knock,
And one tells a story of woe.
And one, if requested to travel a mile,
Will insure the parcel and roads;
But one does his stunt with a whistle and smile,
He's the man who delivers the goods.
One man is afraid that he'll labor too hard,
The world isn't yearning for such;
And one man is ever alert on his guard,
Lest he put in a minute too much.
One has a grouch on, a temper, that's bad,
And one is a creature of moods;
So it's me for the joyous and rollicking lad,
For the man who delivers the goods.

ALBERTA MINES YIELD 6,650,000 TONS COAL

Alberta coal production in 1920 reached a record figure. Shipments for the 12 months will total about 6,650,000 tons, as compared with 5,022,412 for the preceding year. During the 11 months to November 30, 1920, Manitoba took 16,198 tons of domestic coal and steam coal, with an additional 1,161 of anthracite, as against a total of 314,290 tons in 1919. British Columbia took 106,450 tons of domestic coal and steam coal, a gain of nearly 20,000 tons over the preceding year. Shipments of 10,658 tons were made to Toronto and other Ontario points as compared with 508 tons for the year previous.

A community club was formed recently in the town of Strathmore, and the editor of the local paper says it is a social and business organization of the people of the district, with the object of bettering the common lot of all. The object of the club is to promote social intercourse between town and country, help the interests of the district and assist every movement for the good of the community at large. Too many people live to themselves alone, and, if not at actual enmity with neighbors, ignore their existence. Community intercourse is an exemplification of practical Christianity, says editor McKenzie.

Within a few days the application for the electric railway franchise will come before the legislature for consideration. Too much care cannot be exercised in granting this franchise, as while there are legitimate companies willing to undertake the work, there is also the usual crop of franchise hunters and grafters. This road is badly needed and when built, will be of great benefit to the whole of the Pass, and it would be a great misfortune if this valuable franchise should fall into the hands of any set of speculators.

Taxes in Blairmore have been cut down to a whisper, and as a consequence there will be no money for road work this year.

Hillcrest Happenings

(By Our Own Dear Felix)

Miss Betsy Stobbs left on the 13th ultimo on a visit to the coast.

All our terrible slaughter sales are over now. No more bargain-until next time.

Charles Ironmonger, who met with an accident at the mine, is progressing favorably.

Word was received here a few days ago of the death of Mrs. John Toth, a late resident of Peaceful Valley.

The hard times dance on Monday night was well attended. Anyone needing a handout, consult Curly and they'll get it!

Abraham Dodd, the oldest old-timer in Hillcrest, met with a serious accident on the night of the 25th February. He was returning home after visiting some friends and slipped on the road, causing him a broken leg.

The grim reaper has been busy in Hillcrest of late, removing three from our midst, Frank Decarlo's son, Mrs. Swook and Mrs. Belak. The husband of the latter is left with four small children. The sympathy of the village is with the bereaved.

There is talk of chartering a special train sometime this month, from Hillcrest to the Atlantic coast, for the benefit of a large number of residents who intend paying a visit to the Old Country. Just now they are busy lining up their passports.

Now that the roads are again decent, no doubt we shall be seeing that man O'Neill, from Blairmore, busling around again. It's too bad that the weather man interfered with his remarkable progress as a short-stop at hockey matches. We understand his recent visit to Calgary was for the purpose of securing a chaperon for future protection, also to confer with the manager of one of the Big Four teams. Blairmore team should get busy and grab him, else he will be away.

Quite a little excitement occurred in the village a few days ago over rumors circulated regarding the picture show. We will not repeat the rumors. It is said the promoter has been prowling around looking for Felix. Better be careful—the hall in which the pictures are shown either complies with the law or it does not. If it does it is quite alright; if not it is quite all wrong, and it will be anything serious happens. But the fact remains, there is not a movie show in an upper story anywhere in the whole district but Hillcrest. But apart from anything else, it is time patrons were provided with better accommodation. They pay enough for it, but I suppose it's a case of "anything is good enough for that bunch," and we'll see how things pan out.

In all probability a plant for the manufacture of stooking machines and stook loaders will be erected at Medicine Hat in the near future by the Hiltz Stooking Machine Company, manufacturers of various agricultural machines.

In endeavoring to carry out its peace time obligations, the Alberta Division of the Red Cross has been peculiarly fortunate in securing the co-operation of Dr. Heber Jameson, of the University of Alberta. If Thin, Nervous, Run Down, Depressed, This Will Help!

The wear and strain of life has tended in recent years to produce nervous debility in a large percentage of our population.

Thousands are affected with a feeling they can't exactly describe. They are always tired and droopy, lack ambition, have poor appetite, look pale and suffer from depressing headaches and insomnia.

This condition is full of peril. It is the stepping stone to invalidism, the beginning of a shattered constitution.

We advise everyone in this condition to take a good medicine at once and try to get well while yet there is time.

Probably, no better advice can be given than to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which have become famous in restoring the sick to good health. A general toning up of the system at once takes place. The whole body is vitalized by rich and pure blood. The appetite is increased, food is digested and naturally strength rapidly increases. Headaches go because the bowels are regular and all wastes are carried off.

There is no experiment about using Dr. Hamilton's Pills because they certainly restore the sick, as a trial will quickly prove. Just as good for the old as the young, and suitable to the needs of women and children. This grand family medicine should be in every home.

In addition to these delicacies Peeler had brought along some smoked fish of his own special brand. Widow Ross had brought coffee—a rarity in those old days, and each of the Bushwhackers had, as was their custom, brought something eatable to swell the good cheer. It was a big spread, and the men and women there assembled were doing justice to each other's fare. Peeler, the good people were doing their best to dispel it. A full bell from the assembly as Boy and Paisley entered and took their places at the table. Big McTavish helped them to meat and potatoes and then he began:

"We've been goin' on and summin' up. Seems likely to us that Hallibut's gang will come back here right soon again, and we've been talkin' over what we'd better do. Hallibut's likely goin' to bring a bigger force next time, we think. From what widder tells us, there's no doubt that he burned his own boys. She says they took her up about three in the mornin', and they were in a big hurry. She wanted to get up and dress Simpson's wounds, but they told her to mind her own business. She tried to see who was in the gang, but they kept in the about half an hour after they had gone she seen the schooner burnin'. Now, it's just this way. Hallibut's expectin' to push us off of here, as he wants to do, for, of course, he'll say we burned his boat and poor old Noah. And we, on the other hand, have an excuse to shoot Hallibut. But we mustn't do anything rash, boys. We must be careful."

Boy looked about the room in search of Gloss. He did not see her and rightly guessed that she was grieving, in some hidden place, over the death of her old friend.

He arose and passed unnoticed from the room. The sky was dark with storm-clouds and the snow was falling. He took the path toward the grove and as he passed he saw a dog lifted his head and watched him. He entered the bush, but no dog followed him, and he started back. In the old playhouse, cold and dreary and dark, Boy found the glass.

"Gloss," he said, and he answered without lifting his head. "I couldn't help it, Boy; I had to know. I know I did wrong, and after what happened last night I know I should be careful. But, oh, Boy, I can't bear to think of it. It's terrible!"

Boy went over and sat on a corner of the stump table. He did not attempt to pacify her. He did not know how. He felt his impotency, and it made him miserable.

"Nobody will know, can know, how good Noah has been to me," sobbed Gloss. "Oh, Boy, I don't know how I'll get along without him. I shut my eyes and I can see him there, and then I see him on that burnin' boat, and I see the old folks eatin' down in their red fingers for him. Oh, she gasped. "I can't bear it, Boy! I can't!"

He lifted her up and bore her out of the snow-capped entrance. She had not meant to leave him. He was thankful for that. She clung to him, her warm breath biting his cheek and his heart beating fast. "And so he half-carried, half led her back to the house."

"Go in and lie down," he said gently. "She loosened her arms slowly, looking into his eyes, and when she had gone he leaned weakly against the wall."

The guests had finished dinner and Mrs. Dechute was blocking the space between the table and the fireplace with her matronly figure and discouraging the probabilities of a hard, long winter.

"As I was tellin' Andor on your way over, just exactly four years ago to-day, Moses and Zachary was down with chicken-pox and David and Lettie Rebecca was gettin' the symptoms of it when it got in the house. It was like it is to-day. Winter took a tight hold for nigh three months. Why, you'll remember there was no loggin' done that winter, and the wolves starved to death in the timber. Deer, too, and turkeys, and I don't know what'n't no visitin' done much either, and give my life if that was one dance away from here. Well, it was a hard winter. Why, it got cold and stayed cold, and Joseph, our cat, friz stiff on the lad. When he was a comb to the left of the door. And every sign points to just such another winter comin'."

"It looks as though winter was here to stay, all right," observed Andor, "and we're like to have a hard one, too. The rats are buildin' deep and strong."

"My boy, Tom, he cut down a squirrel tree yesterday," declared Mrs. Ross, "and that's a queer one. He stored up food for a long winter. Hope, though, we don't have one like that one of four years ago. We have both cats and one too big this winter."

"Guess we'd all better get home," laughed Dechute, "else we'll have to build some snowshoes 't travel on."

"Yes, we must," observed Andor. "I guess the cattle and sheep won't care about standin' out in this storm."

"Name out and out at the table, Mary Ann. Ross sat down near her, and Bill Paisley, stepping careful through the bushes, drew close enough to the table to say:

"Didn't know that you intended to come over, Mary Ann."

"My thought we ought to come," said the girl.

"Did you hear them prophesies?" a long, thin man asked Paisley.

"Mary Ann looked up and smiled. "It can't be too long to suit me," she retorted.

"I wish it was spring right now," sighed Bill.

Gloss raised her head and looked anxiously at the two.

"Ask Mary Ann," said Paisley solemnly.

"Tell Gloss yourself, if you want to, baby," flashed Mary Ann, hiding her face.

"Mary Ann is to be Mrs. William Paisley next spring," grinned Bill.

Gloss drew the blushing head over to her and the girls to say:

"I'm glad," she said simply.

The babies were being bundled up and there was the commotion that comes of lingering leave-taking among good neighbors. Now they were going to their separate homes, each satisfied and determined. They would have been glad, even, had not the gloom of Joseph Noah's death still hung across their simple lives.

Just as Dechute reached for the latch the door opened and Dalt Dave sprang into the room, crying of poverty, now following him as though he had been shot down again the scurrying clouds. He stood aching about him.

"Right here, Dave," cried Boy. "What is it, lad?"

Dave spoke a few low words, then darted under Dechute's arm and out into the darkening day.

The Bushwhackers looked at one another.

"What does the lad say?" asked Big McTavish.

Boy matched up his cap. "I'll see," he cried. "Wait here, everybody."

He glanced at Gloss, then sped out after Dave. For half an hour after the boys had gone there was almost absolute silence among those gathered there.

"I've been wonderin' all day where Dave was," Paisley said at length. "You didn't see him when you was over?" turning to Peeler.

"I saw him when I better go and see. If he had got home safe," explained Peeler. "The old Granny came to the door, and when I asked if Dave had got home she said 'yes,' and slam-

Send the door in my face. That's all I know, Bill."

"Boy is comin' now, and he's nervous," cried Gloss from the window. She sprang out and ran down the path through the deep snow to meet him.

"Oh, Boy," she called, "is there anything worth tellin'?"

He caught her in his arms and his voice was husky as he said:

Noah is alive and well, Gloss. He's over out of the bush."

In a flash the good news passed to those waiting inside; and after the preliminary excitement had subsided they crowded about the bearer of the good news for his story.

"Noah was just in the hold of the schooner," explained Boy, "and when he fought his way up through the smoke, the deck and masts were all afire. He made a run for it and jumped into the water, and when he swam around to where his ship was, he found the painter had subsided through and the boat gone. He gave up, then, but naturally he swam, and as good luck would have it, he found a piece of driftwood and hung to it until he reached shore. Old Betsy was there just as he came ashore, and she and Dave between them managed to get him over to her house. She gave him some stuff that he had hidden in the hold, and he let him come over here yet awhile, but he's a tight, people, and I guess we're mighty glad."

Peeler stood forth. "I gave vent to his feelings in this way."

"There's no harm in us here, good folks, haven't give old Betsy her just dues. We've believed she was a liar, and we was all scared by her. Now, neighbors, Betsy has done a mighty lot for us in one way and another, and I move that to show how we appreciate all this we burn her a brand new house next spring. That is," he ended with a grin, "provided Hallibut don't push us all off the earth before then."

"Hear, hear!" cried everybody; and it was decided then and there that Betsy should have one of the finest houses in Bushwhackers' Place.

And so, as the neighbors left the McTavish domicile happy and determined. The day shortened, the skies grew darker, and the snow came down in vast white walls. The remnants of the feast lay upon the long table. Old Dalt Dave, besides the fire, her wrinkled face sweet with the peace that comes only to the very young or very old, her blue-veined hands. Mrs. McTavish sat close beside her, and Gloss stood in her old place by the window.

Big McTavish, his face careering the old fiddle, was playing his favorite tune, and Boy, his head bowed before the fire, was listening to the music and wondering. And so they waited until the dusk of early night came down and the chickens crept to their coop and the owl began his mournful hoot in the taunted copse down near the stable. All was alike, tranquil sweet and peaceful, after a night and day of storm; only old Joe was not in his accustomed place.

He had left his bed beside the ashgun for one in the haze-copse.

Shower of Meteors Probable in June

Any Person Who Is Afraid Should Move to Southern Hemisphere.

Dr. Crommelin has been engaged in computing the probable path of the comet Pons-Wiannec, which is expected to approach very near the earth next June.

His estimate of the perihelion passage is June 15, with an uncertainty of ten days one way or the other. The perihelion distance is nearly the same as that of the earth from the sun at the end of June, and if the comet could manage to postpone its perihelion passage until June 27 or 28, the earth might stand a chance of being overtaken by it. In any case there is a considerable probability of an extensive shower of meteors being associated with the comet. At the last passage, in 1916, numerous meteors were seen pouring from the constellation of Perseus.

Dr. Crommelin has reason to think that the comet is really the same as a comet discovered in 1766. Anybody who is afraid of a collision between the earth and the comet need only migrate to the southern hemisphere to avoid all risk.

A Friend To the Aged!

When men and women get past middle life, their energy and activity, in many instances, begin to decline, and their general vitality is on the wane.

The heart action becomes weak and uncertain and the nerves more or less unsteady.

Little sicknesses and ailments seem harder to shake off than formerly, and here and there evidences of broken down begin to appear.

Those who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They make the heart beat strong and regular, brace up and invigorate the nervous system, improve the memory, and impart a sense of buoyancy to the entire system.

Mrs. James Perry, Kelowna, B.C., writes: "Some months ago I was not feeling well, my heart bothered me quite a lot, and my whole system seemed out of order. I sent and got two boxes of your pills. I took them a few days, and my whole change there was in me, and when I had taken the two boxes I felt so much better I quit them. Now I take them at intervals, and am fine although 72 years of age."

Airplane Passengers in Canada.

In Canada, during the past eleven months, 15,500 passengers were carried on airplanes.

On the Pacific coast, flying a total of 6,811 hours and covering 429,177 miles. There were only five fatal accidents at these flights, according to a statement of Col. Robert Leckie, D.S.O., of the Canadian Air Board.

There are 300 travelling libraries in operation in Saskatchewan rural districts and the government has appropriated $10,000 for the extension of the system.

"Oral Hygiene" Lay Education Series

"YOUR TEETH"

Race Degeneration.

By Res Proctor McGee, M.D., D.D.S.,
Editor Oral Hygiene.

As we read history and we notice the rise and fall of nations, we realize that at certain periods of their greatness, when their governments have had the greatest vigor and their foreign commerce has been pushed to the ends of the known world, and when the armies have stood victorious in the capitals of their enemies, it would seem that no power would ever be able to rise and to overthrow them.

In many cases the fall of a nation has been caused by a powerful enemy, but more frequently has been the result of a gradual degeneration in the physical and mental qualifications of the people who constitute the country.

If you consider the glories of ancient Greece and their marvelous physical development, and their wonderful energy, their active minds and their artistic instincts, and then wonder what brought them to the low level that they have occupied for the last thousand years, you will find that it was not the invading hosts of the enemy and that it was not the violation of our present standards of morality, and it was not any of those things that are usually held up as vices. It was a new kind of disease that did the business for the old Greeks; it was simply malaria.

You see that if a nation shows signs of decay, one of the first things to do is to see if there is any extremely active disease that is attacking the inhabitants in great numbers, and if there is, there you will find the reason for a lowering of the national tone.

In America today nearly every child that goes to the public schools, and nearly every child that does not go to the public schools, is suffering from decay of the teeth.

It would seem that the bacteria of tooth decay, which is just as much a disease as malaria ever was, is a widespread attack upon the people of our race. And if we are unable to check it then we must conform to the physical regulations that have been in force since the world began. Every type of animal that has disappeared from the globe has done so because the change of climate or environment had been so rapid that the development of the teeth could not keep pace with the change in food, and consequently these animals that are now extinct because so because their dental apparatus could no longer do the business. And if our dental apparatus is allowed to become a total wreck, we are doomed as a people.

A Story of the Sea

Is Unique Among the After-the-War Narratives.

In a great many ways Mr. Archibald Hurd's book, "A Merchant Fleet at War," is unique among the after-the-war narratives. In actual fact it is a record, at times so conservative as to be almost an official report, of the war activities of the Cunard company. But concise and exact as is its record of actual events, it contains certain passages which are epic. Consider, for example, this extract from page 103:

"It was on March 27, 1917, at eight o'clock in the evening that the Thracia, Captain R. Nicholas, while on a voyage with ore from Bilbao to Adroscow, was sunk at sight and without warning, leaving only one survivor. Disappearing in one minute, those on board were left with no possible chance of saving their lives and it was only by a miracle that Cadet Douglas Duff, a boy of 16 years of age, was left to tell the tale. He succeeded in saving his life by clinging for sixteen hours to the keel of a capsized boat, during the early part of which time he was seen and jeered at by the crew of the submarine. One of them, indeed, raised a rifle and aimed at him, whereupon he shouted, perhaps characteristically of the service to which he belonged—'Shoot and be damned to you.' It seems to us that all the romantic stories of the sea that ever were told, from Casabianca to Trafalgar Bay contain no greater thrill than this."—Halifax Herald.

Remarkable Clock
Attracts Attention

Movements Duplicate Those of Sun, Moon and Earth. Michael Bulka, of Chicago, has invented a remarkable astronomical clock which, in a season when many new models of clocks have been exhibited, has attracted much scientific interest.

In a glass dome on top of it are a miniature sun, earth and moon whose movements duplicate those of these bodies in the heavens. The sun remains stationary but the earth turns on its axis, the moon revolves around the earth and both planets circle the sun. The globe representing the sun and moon are coated with phosphorus and show the nights and days and the various phases of the earth's satellite. Eclipses of the sun and moon are clearly indicated.

The amazing thing about it is that the earth revolves every twenty-four hours and the earth and moon take twelve months to complete their circle about the sun while marking off the four seasons. While these planetary movements are visible, a dial on the face of the clock records the changes in days, weeks, months and years. Another dial records time, as ordinary clocks do, in minutes and hours.

For all its complicated mechanism, the clock is of ordinary size and not too cumbersome to occupy the customary place on a mantelpiece.

RICH, RED BLOOD
MEANS HEALTH

Pale Cheeks and Bloodless Lips Are A Danger Signal

To be pale is no longer the fashion; to be laugid is an affliction. Today the most winsome girl in the land, with the pink tint of health in her cheeks, lips naturally red, and eyes sparkling with life. Add to this a quick active step and everyone can tell the girl whose veins are full of the pure, rich blood of health. How different she appears from her ailing sisters, whose aching limbs and weak backs make them pale and dejected. Anemia is the cause of so much suffering among girls and women that it cannot be too widely known that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have transformed thousands of delicate, anemic invalids into happy, healthy women. These pills help to put rich red blood into the veins, and this blood reaches every part of the body, giving strength, rosy cheeks and brightness in place of weakness, prostrating headaches and a wretched state of half-health. Mrs. Edna E. Weaver, R.R. No. 1, Chippewa, Ont., says: "I was very much run down, weak, nervous and troubled with pain in the side. I tried different medicines but without any benefit until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The use of this medicine I gained strength, had better appetite, slept better, the pain in my side disappeared. My health has since remained excellent and I advise anyone troubled with anemia, or weakness, to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Dr. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anemia, rheumatism, neuralgia and nervousness. Build up your blood and note how the purer and richer blood fights your battles against disease. Much of the tobacco land in Essex County, Ont., will be planted with grain. The grain-growing industry will lead to a greater hog production.

Boots and Shoes and Editorial Policy

Under date of Feb. 16, the following interesting article, dealing with the Murray idea, appeared in the Regina Leader:

The Murray idea, that Canadian manufacturers should only advertise in newspapers which support the Meighen Government and a high protective tariff finds a warm supporter in The Hartt Boot and Shoe Co., Ltd., of Fredericton, N.B.

Unlike the Ames-Holden Co., possibly the largest shoe manufacturer in Canada—whose shoes are apparently made to be worn by Conservative and Liberal alike, by Grain Growers and High Tariff and Low Tariff people, and are accordingly advertised in Canadian newspapers irrespective of their editorial policies—the Hartt Boot and Shoe Co. have laid it down as the policy of their company that they will only do business with newspapers that are supporting the Meighen Government and a Protective tariff.

The extent to which this principle is followed in the policy adopted by the Hartt Boot and Shoe Co. is fully set forth in the following letter, addressed last September by the president of the company, S. D. Palmer, to the Vancouver Sun:

THE HARTT BOOT AND SHOE CO., LTD.
Fredericton, N.B., Sept. 7, 1920.

Vancouver Sun: Attention Advertising Manager.

Gentlemen: I received a day or two ago from you, your night lettergram, reading as follows:

"You must be a little more started here and we are disappointed you have overlooked us. We have been in communication with you from time to time and hoped that your advertising would appear in our columns. Sunday Sun has exclusive issue and is choice when one paper is required to cover this."

Would say in reply, that it is true that at one time we were thinking of using your paper, but to be frank with you (and I take it for granted that you will be frank) our reasons for dropping your paper was that we do not like the editorial policy you are pursuing.

We believe that your medium has advantages, on account of it being the only morning paper in Vancouver, and as to any way of thinking the believers in the policy of doing business, as far as possible, with our friends, and your attitude in some cases with respect to some questions has caused us to feel that you are more against us than with us.

The definition of your tariff policy as announced in your issue of June 29 would be fairly satisfactory, if it had been consistently followed up, but since then we notice a tendency to favor the tariff policy of Mackenzie King in preference to that of Mr. Meighen, and as a way of thinking the return of a party pledged to Mr. King's platform at the present time would inspire such a lack of confidence in business circles that the country would only suffer a depression and a general election. In our judgment that is contrary to the best interests of the country at the present time, because there would be the possibility of the country being governed by Mr. King and his followers or by the Farmers' Party, or perhaps by a combination of the two, and the far-reaching dangers to established business by putting into execution the policies that they preached, would be a tremendous loss to the investment of further capital and mean retrenchment all along the line.

Another matter which I might refer to is the publication of certain editorials from time to time with regard to the business interests of the country. As an illustration, I might refer to the editorial which you ran near the end of July, dealing with the Lake of the Wood Milling Company. I have no brief for this Company and have no interest in it either directly or indirectly, but as a business man and a manufacturer I can see very plainly that the large profits that they were able to roll up were made by keeping their plant running to full capacity all the year round, thereby turning out a tremendous amount of goods, and as a manufacturer I can see very plainly the average man making an article such as I refer to above would likely gather the impression from your line of argument that the consumer, from the standpoint of price, would be better off in the hands of small millers than in the hands of large millers, whereas as a matter of fact, it is not for the great efficiency of the larger plants, the chances are that the consumers would be paying a good deal more than they are today for their flour.

The above illustration is given to you frankly and candidly, and it is owing to these and other articles of a like character that we have not included your paper in our list of advertising mediums.

We believe that we have the right to say with whom we shall spend our money for advertising, and that we will not be asked to do so. At the same time, we cannot consistently feel that we are serving the best interests of ourselves and the business community in general, when we advertise in a paper whose editorial policy has the effect of tearing down rather than building up the business interests of the country.

Yours very truly,
(Sgd.) THE HARTT BOOT & SHOE CO., LTD.,
S. D. Palmer, President.

Keeping the Home Clean

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH
An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management

Just now it is rather between seasons. The holidays have passed and the spring time is not yet quite with us. Can you imagine the far-reaching influence along health lines of a few housewife in the entire country, gave her home a thorough and severe cleaning right now?

The right way to clean a house is simple and time saving. The wrong way of cleaning a house merely moves the dirt and dust from one part of the house to another—such as dusting with a feather duster.

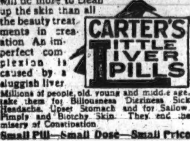

A scrubbing pad and brush, a good broom, soft cloths dampened to aid in collecting dust, warm water, soap, fresh air and sunshine are all that are required to clean up.

If a house has been badly neglected, only one room at a time should be attempted. Unless one has extra help, the best way of cleaning is to start with the room that is tucked to the floor, it is much wiser from a health standpoint to rip up the carpet and thoroughly clean it either by beating in the fresh air, or by the steaming process known to the professional carpet cleaner. Then have it made into one or several rugs. These are easily picked up, and cleaned daily or weekly.

Closets are often the stamping ground for innumerable germs. All closets should be kept clean and in order. Once in every two months it is not too often to open up the closet and remove everything it contains. Scrub it out thoroughly with soap and warm water. Let it dry and air thoroughly. Before putting back any of the contents decide whether it is a washable article. In the case of clothing, if the garments are soiled with dirt, they can be repaired or remade, if de-

Smiths Falls, Ont.—"I suffered with falling of my organs, pains around my heart and in bowels and down my legs, neuralgia in my face and head, and the terrible sinking feeling. My husband went to the drugstore to get the best remedy he had and he gave him Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and now I feel a lot better. I will always recommend the Vegetable Compound, and you can use these facts in your advertising. — Mrs. J. O. Church, Box 845, Smiths Falls, Ont.

Advertising seems to be an art yet, to be discovered by some people—at least the practical part of it. A constant stream of water from one or more fire engines will soon extinguish or get under control a very large fire, while a few buckets of water dashed here and there have little or no effect. The modern fire department is practical and has outgrown the bucket system. So it is with modern advertising—plenty of it, used in a practical common sense and judicious manner, pays.
